OVER A MILLION

an interesting account of the status of the plantation, and shows net profits derived from the sale of sugar amounting to over a million dollars. Excerpts of the report follow:

As far as our water supply is concerned, the year 1907 has been unusually good one, in that the rainfall has been well distributed in fair amounts in the eight localities. At no time during the season did the fields suffer from lack of water. The temperature averaged about two degrees lower than during the previous year, which was the only drawback that the growing crops had.

Crop of 1908.—Milling for this crop started on November 26th, 1907, and so far we have had very fair juices, and have prospects for a good average for the season.

The weather has been most ideal for harvesting, and we have bagged 15,967 tons of sugar, as against 12,287 tons of sugar at even date for the crop of 1906.

As this crop has practically suffered no drawbacks, it should yield from 5,613.82 acres, about 45,500 tons of sugar.

Crop of 1909.—Planting was commenced for the crop of 1909, March 14th, 1907, and was finished on August 28th, which is about three weeks earlier than we finished planting the crop of 1908. This certainly is a new record for the H. C. & S. Co. in early planting.

The total area, plant and rattoons, for the crop of 1909, is 5,628.12 acres. About 1,500 acres were planted from top seed.

The rattoons were hillied-up in good time and are certainly making a fine showing.

With early planting and with the good start that the rattoons have gotten, this crop certainly has a good outlook, and unless something unforeseen happens, should yield as well as the crop of 1908.

Crop of 1910.—The only work thus far done on this crop is steam plowing. The steam plows are well ahead this year.

The area of this crop will be about 5,700 acres.

Sugar Factory.—The mills were driven harder than ever during 1907, grinding an average of 93.13 tons of cane per hour, as against 90 tons per hour for the previous year. The average extraction obtained was a little higher than for the crop of 1906.

The consumption of auxiliary fuel during 1907 was very much less than for 1906; and we hope to decrease this expense still more during the present season.

New Waimea Ditch.—The water was turned into the new Waimea Ditch on May 15th, 1907, and, although there were the usual troubles that have to be contend with in running water in a new ditch, still, after the first month, the ditch has been running smoothly, and the H. C. & S. Co. has gotten a good supply of water through this ditch, and at times surplus water through the old Waimea ditch.

Contemplated Improvements.—The contemplated improvements for 1908 will not be very heavy.

A new store at Kahului will be built, which will be devoted exclusively to retail business.

The capacity of the sugar warehouse at Punaeho mill will be increased by extending the warehouse.

The Waialua Sugar Co. and H. C. & S. Co. in conjunction, are developing water in the Waialua valley.

It will be necessary to purchase two large lathes, as well as some smaller tools for our machine shop.

There will be considerable building to be done, just how much it is impossible to say at present.

Labor.—The labor supply is sufficient at present. The Portuguese laborers from the Azores and Madeira Islands have proved a great success; twenty-seven out of these families have taken acre-lots under homestead agreements, and seem to be well contented.
